PATTEN JOINS AUTOFARM AS HEAD OF NORTH AMERICAN SALES

MENLO PARK, CALIF. (March 4, 2004) -- AutoFarm, a leading provider of GPS precision control systems for agricultural applications, announces that Daryl Patten has joined the company as head of North American sales, effective March 1, 2004.

“We are extremely pleased to welcome Daryl Patten to the company,” said Shashi Raval, CEO of AutoFarm. “Daryl brings an incredible wealth of knowledge and experience, having an extensive background in agricultural equipment sales and key account management. Further, his deep understanding of distribution and channel management will provide additional value as we continue to expand upon our growth strategy.”

Patten brings more than twenty years of sales and marketing experience to AutoFarm. Most recently, he served as the General Marketing Manager for AGCO’s $250 million Application Equipment Division. Before joining AGCO, Patten held leadership roles in service, sales and marketing over a 13-year period with Melroe Company, a division of Ingersoll-Rand.

Patten is a native of North Dakota and received his B.S. in Agricultural Mechanization from North Dakota State University in Fargo, ND. He also has a MBA from Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

AutoFarm, division of IntegriNautics, Inc. in Menlo Park, Calif., manufactures and markets agricultural Global Positioning System (GPS) guidance systems based on its experience in automatic aircraft landing and other aerospace technology.
